“The Moment of Truth” Original Oil Painting on Linen Canvas by Artist Chip Brock

Artwork: The Wildlife Art of Chip Brock - Professional Wildlife Artist Chip Brock is donating an original 40 x 30 oil painting called, “The Moment of Truth.” This piece features four beautiful Dall Sheep rams in their rugged habitat, cresting over the edge of a rocky cliff. The largest ram has paused in the perfect position for a clean shot but we all know it won't last long! The painting size is 40" X 30" and includes a beautiful hand crafted custom frame. Chip is a life long hunter and lives with his family in Wasilla, Alaska. Each day brings a new and exciting view of the Chugach mountain range from his studio window creating an amazing backdrop to draw inspiration from. The fascination with North American wildlife, love of fine art and the challenge of creating a beautiful painting based on his own reference and experiences are the perfect combination for a fulfilling career. Chip's work has been included in the prestigious National Art for the Parks competition, National Paint the Parks Competition, Art for Alaska Parks, C.M. Russell Art Auction, and has helped raise money for many conservation groups and private charities. Please view Chip Brock's fabulous wildlife artwork on his website: www.chipbrock.com We thank Chip Brock for his donation.

10-day Togiak National Wildlife Refuge Wilderness Coastal Brown Bear Hunt for One Hunter

Alaska: Alaska Outfitters Unlimited – Aaron Bloomquist of Alaska Outfitters Unlimited is donating a 10-day/11-night Coastal Brown Bear hunt for one hunter in the Togiak National Wildlife Refuge Wilderness. The hunting area is an Exclusive Use Concession of about 2 million acres located in Southwest Alaska (Bristol Bay) in the Togiak National Wildlife Refuge Wilderness (TNWR). The area is 140 miles long stretching from the heart of the Killbuck Mountains to the extreme southwest corner of Greater Alaska. This is possibly the most diverse concession in all of Alaska. The bears of the area are classic Coastal Brown Bears with large boars ranging from 8.5' to over 9.5'; skull sizes of large boars range from 25-28". Our kill rate over the last 10 year concession was 87.6% according to TNWR statistics. Our camps in this concession are bomb shelter-style tents with cots and cook stoves. Small inflatables with motors are used to facilitate travel around the shorelines of the bigger lakes and some streams. A true float hunt is a very exciting and successful method of hunting, and commonly includes some world-class fishing. A typical day's hunt is boating and/or hiking to a small hill or vantage point and glassing until the desired game is spotted or waiting for a bear along a brush choked stream watching thousands of spawning salmon. In some areas it is possible to set up a lakeshore camp near spawning red salmon and hunt the bears that come out in the mornings and evenings to feed. This is especially helpful for the hunter who is unable to do much hiking. The TNWR offers some of the best fishing in Bristol Bay, the premier place on the planet to catch salmon, rainbows and many other species of fish. Not included in hunt are transportation from Anchorage to Dillingham, AK, Air Taxi Fee of $1500 from Dillingham to hunt area, Alaska Non-Resident Hunting License ($160) and Alaska Non-Resident Brown Bear Tag ($1000). This hunt may be upgraded to take a second Brown Bear for a trophy fee of $10,000 (second Brown Bear tag not included). This hunt may also be upgraded for moose (by permit only) for a trophy fee of $12,000. Deadline for moose permit application is December 15, 2017. Non-resident Moose Tag is $400. This hunt donation is good for open dates from September 1-10 and 10-20, 2018 or 2019 only. For more information, contact Aaron Bloomquist at 907-892-2471 or by email: bloomya@hotmail.com. “Kodiak” Limited Edition Bronze Art Piece by Frank Entsminger

Artwork: Exhibitor Frank Entsminger of Frank Entsminger Bronze Art is donating a limited edition bronze art piece called “Kodiak.” Frank created this sculpture to depict one of Alaska's giants, Kodiak Brown Bear, entitled “Kodiak.” These awesome, massive, magnificent bears are impressive with tremendous power. Frank wanted to portray their immense size, powerful strength and deep respect to the animal in this art piece. The bronze piece is mounted on a beautiful walnut base that swivels. To depict the coast where they live, he added two sea gulls flying by. This piece is 18" tall by 12" long and 8" deep weighing 20 pounds. The high bidder can choose any piece of Frank's art of equal value or put the amount towards another piece and pay the difference. Frank Entsminger is Alaska's Premier Wildlife Sculptor, he has many beautiful art pieces on his website: wildernesscreations.com. We thank Frank for his outstanding donation.

6-Day Montana Elk and Deer (Mule or Whitetail) Combo Hunt for One Hunter

Montana: Lazy J Bar O Outfitters – Mike and Jojo Colpo of Lazy J Bar O Outfitters are donating a 6-day Montana Elk and Deer (Mule or Whitetail) combo hunt for one hunter in Southwest Montana. Method of take is rifle. Hunt includes, 2x1 guiding service, trophy fees for included game and field prep, all meals and lodging. Lazy J Bar O's Southwest Montana hunts take place in the steep and rugged wilderness areas near their headquarters in Big Timber, Montana. This country is home to some of the best general-unit elk hunting anywhere in the Rockies. This area is loaded with elk. With very high bull-to-cow ratios, there are some very big bulls. There are also great opportunities for November hunts for big mule deer in the rut. These hunts may be conducted from a lodge or upper wilderness camp and can be customized based on the individual needs of each client or group. Horses and mules are used to access remote areas and the best hunting opportunities. Whether you're looking for big bull elk or trophy mule deer, this area offers it all with no waiting and no preference points. With a booming elk population and incredible game density, this area is home to some of the best general-unit wilderness hunting anywhere. Arrival and departure point is Bozeman (60 miles) or Billings (80 miles), MT. Not included are before and after hunt expenses, license (elk and deer, $1010), trophy shipping, and gratuities. Additional hunters are welcome at regular rate of $4,900. Schedule hunt with outfitters for available dates October 20 - November 26, 2017 or 2018. Alaska Wild Sheep Foundation Dall Sheep Conservation Legacy Bronze

Alaska Dall Sheep Conservation Legacy Bronze - The Alaska Wild Sheep Foundation is pleased to debut a unique Conservation Statue for auction at this year's banquet. Renowned sculptor Frank Enstsminger has been commissioned to create a special bronze statue of a Dall sheep moving up an Alaskan mountainside. The head and horns of the Dall ram will be modeled directly after the world record muzzleloader Dall sheep taken by Bob Hodson. The statue will be approximately 24 inches in height and the base will be tiered walnut to both represent a mountain and allow for the placement of engraved name plates. Each year, the winning bidder of this item will have their name and the year engraved on a plate and attached to the base. The winning bidder will also receive a small commemorative statue affectionately known as the “Barney” featuring the head and shoulders of the Dall sheep mounted on a walnut base with their name, the name of the award and the year. The cost of the statue and subsequent commemorative versions has been fully underwritten allowing AK WSF to contribute 100% of the proceeds of the auction to “Keeping sheep on the mountains of Alaska.” Between banquets the bronze will be displayed at Barney's Sports Chalet in Anchorage until a more suitable location is found. The delivery date of the final product is not expected until the 2018 Annual Alaska Wild Sheep Foundation Banquet but AK WSF is offering the inaugural concept version at this year's live auction.
