

John H. Landsiedel V John H Landsiedel V Aviation Scholarship Program

Call for Applications-Qualifications

We are pleased to announce the opening of the application window for our John H Landsiedel V Aviation Scholarship Program. If you are a wildlife professional in the state of Alaska trying to obtain your pilot certifications, additional ratings, pilot-in-command (PIC) or dual- instructed flight hours, or other training (e.g. unusual attitude), we want to help! Empowering more wildlife professionals to pursue aviation will lead to an increased ability to perform essential population surveys, and monitoring efforts, as well as contributing to research projects annually. If you are an individual working towards obtaining any aviation rating or certifications with the goal of flying surveys and contributing to wildlife management or research programs, we invite you to apply for a scholarship!

Key details:

Scholarship amount: $5,000. Two scholarships will be awarded to qualified applicants in 2026.

Application window: February 1- March 1, 2026; Scholarships awarded by March 20, 2026.

Eligibility criteria:

- Currently working in the wildlife conservation field actively managing or researching wildlife populations in Alaska or working towards a degree in wildlife conservation and management.
- Priority will be given to tenured Alaska Department of Fish and Game staff with intentions of staying with the Department and contributing to wildlife conservation efforts in the future
- Priority will be given to current Alaska Wild Sheep Foundation members who meet all the above criteria
- Priority will be given to wildlife professionals working with Dall sheep, mountain goats, and muskox (but is not required)
- Must be currently domiciled in Alaska and plan to remain in state

How to apply: Please apply by filling out the application form here before the deadline or email executivedirector@akwilsheep.org for a pdf copy of the application.

Applicant Selection Process: The Alaska Wild Sheep Foundation Board of Directors will determine the scholarship winner(s). Applicants will be notified via email or phone regarding their award status. Scholarship funds will be sent directly to the flight school, training center, fuel vendor or individual facilitating the program of that applicant's choosing. The scholarship winner will need to communicate this information to the flight school/training center/etc. and the Alaska Wild Sheep Foundation will deposit funds accordingly.

What the Alaska Wild Sheep Foundation Asks for in Return: If you are awarded a scholarship, we ask for a short paragraph about who you are and what you do, as well as a photo of you in the field for us to feature on our website and social media account. Good luck to all applicants and thank you for considering our program!
