Lot 1: Alaska Governor's Koyukuk Bull Moose Permit (SM823-830)

The Alaska Department of Fish and Game in cooperation with the North American Versatile Hunting Dog Association has donated this Special Permit for one bull moose (SM823-830) in the Koyukuk Controlled Use Area, combining permits in 21CD and 24CD, upstream of the Gisasa River. This area is known for producing trophy-quality bull moose, with many harvested in the mid to upper 60" spread range, and some bulls with over 6 brow tines per side. This is a once in a lifetime remote Alaska moose hunt in some of the best moose habitat in the world. The winner of this Special Permit will be allowed to hunt from either September 5-14, 2025, or September 16-25, 2025, or in accordance with hunt dates to be published in the 2025-2026 Alaska Hunting Regulations. Alaska residents may harvest any bull moose under this permit, and nonresidents may harvest a bull with at least 50" antler spread or 4 or more brow tines on at least one side. Although a guide is not required for nonresident moose hunting, hiring a guide or transporter would likely be a good idea. 70% of the proceeds of this permit will go directly to ADF&G for wildlife conservation, and the remainder will go to our friends at the North American Versatile Hunting Dog Association, who were awarded the permit by ADF&G, for their programs. So, bid away and help us raise money for conservation!

Lot 18: Alaska Governor's Tok Management Area Dall Sheep Permit (SS102)

The Alaska Department of Fish and Game in cooperation with the North American Versatile Hunting Dog Association has donated this Special Permit for one legal Dall sheep ram in the Tok Management Area (TMA) located in parts of Game Management Units 12, 13C and 20D. The winner of this Special Permit will be allowed to hunt from August 10-September 20, 2025, or in accordance with hunt dates to be published in the 2025-2026 Alaska Hunting Regulations. A maximum of 10 other hunters will be in the field, 9 Alaska residents and 1 nonresident, hunting sheep at the same time in the TMA due to a very limited number of permits. This hunt is available to both residents and nonresidents- nonresident Dall sheep hunters are required to hunt with a registered guide or a family member of second degree of kindred as defined in the Alaska Hunting Regulations. *Since this permit is part of the special Governor's program, waiting requirements for every 4 regulatory years are waived. Therefore, if a resident sheep hunter harvested a sheep in TMA in 2024, or a nonresident harvested a sheep in 2024 in Alaska, they may hunt under this special permit in 2025. 70% of the proceeds of this permit will go directly to ADF&G for wildlife conservation, and the remainder will go to our friends at the North American Versatile Hunting Dog Association, who were awarded the permit by ADF&G, for their programs. So, bid away and help us raise money for conservation!

Lot 23: Twelve Day Trophy Brown Bear Hunt on the Alaska Peninsula

Twelve-day Fall Brown Bear Hunt on the Alaska Peninsula with Joey Klutsch of the Katmai Guide Service. The Fall Season runs from October 7-16, 2025. Spring hunts are also a possibility but cost a little more. One of the premier big game experiences in the world, the Brown Bear (Ursus arctos) is considered the ultimate hunting trophy. The largest boars can reach sizes in excess of 10 ft and weigh up to 1,200 lbs or more. The Alaska Peninsula National Wildlife Refuge is home to some of the largest brown bears in the world and supports a very healthy population due to the excellent habitat and massive salmon runs. Taking one of these large male brown bears is one of the greatest challenges and accomplishments one can achieve. The hunting is all spot and stalk, glassing from high points above salmon streams, travel ways, or berry patches. Daylight is short, and most activity is at dusk or early morning. Hunters should be prepared for many hours of waiting and watching for the right bear. When a bear is spotted there may only be minutes to accurately judge plan a stalk, and go after the animal. This is certainly one of the most adrenaline-charged hunts in the world. Included in the hunt are trophy fee for one brown bear, guide, food and comfortable lodging, field prep of trophy, and wolves may be taken at no additional charges. Not Included: Round trip air charter fee, from King Salmon to camp and back: $3000 payable to air charter company on arrival in King Salmon. NR hunting License of $160, NR Brown Bear locking tag for $1000, Hunters Preservation Fund $200 and gratuities at the end of the hunt.

You will hunt comfortably from wood heated wall tents, eating home cooked meals, riding top quality mountain horses accompanied by an experienced guide and horse wrangler. The dates of the hunt are October 5-16, 2025 and the hunter can bring an additional guest for $5K. This is the final hunt of the bighorn season as the sheep are nearing the rut, when bighorn sheep activity increases. Older more mature rams will often show up in anticipation for the breeding season, increasing your odds of harvesting the trophy of a lifetime. The area is very remote in the heart of a large breeding/wintering ground where rams come from miles away to participate in their annual rituals. There is relatively little hunting pressure due to the difficulty of access, so rest assured you won't have to compete for your ram! Don't miss your opportunity to hunt for a bighorn sheep in one of Alberta's quality bighorn sheep areas, with a professional guide & outfitter that will go the extra mile for you. ## Lot 40: Ten Day Hunt for Mid-Asian Ibex in Tajikistan

Join Nature Conservation Outfitters (or Nachoti Tabiat in Tajik) in the Pamir mountains of Tajikistan for a 10-day hunt for Mid-Asian Ibex (Capra sibirica alaiana). Tajikistan is widely known for its fantastic mountains, and the Pamirs are often called the roof of the world. Only by traveling through these breathtaking mountains can you experience their beauty. Fly to Dushanbe, the capitol of Tajikistan where you will be met by your outfitter. There will be an English-speaking guide with you the entire trip to translate and assist with logistics. You will either stay the first night in Dushanbe or travel further to Khorog, about a day's travel away. From there it is on to Murghab and transfer to the hunting camp. The next five or six days are spent hunting for ibex in the beautiful surround mountains. After the hunt you will reverse the travel back to Dushanbe. As time permits you can do a city tour in Dushanbe with optional visits to the markets, museum, and landmarks. There are no special requirements for the hunter beyond good physical conditioning, although hunters should plan on hiking in mountainous terrain. The ibex quality in the hunting area is exceptional. Base camp is at 12,000 ft (about 3.66 km) where you will stay in a heated two-story house with electricity and internet. Each hunter will have his own guide and travel by vehicle or on foot depending on the terrain. The rugged mountains have little feed, so the ibex use the mountains as a daytime bedding ground and generally move to the valley floors and foothills to feed in relatively gentle terrain in the early mornings and evenings. Hunters can expect trophies in the 39 to 47inch range. The hunt is good for available dates between September 1, 2025, to February 28, 2026. Hunters will have the option to take a second Ibex for an additional $7500. This program offers an unforgettable hunting experience combined with breathtaking landscapes and cultural immersion Included: All transportation during the hunt, English speaking guide, all food and accommodations in the base camp and during the hunt, trophy fee for one ibex with the option to harvest a second for $7500. Not Included: Accommodations in Dushanbe and Khorog (approx. $200 and $100 respectively), pre-scouting if requested, weapons rental if you choose not to bring one, preparation of trophies for shipping, trophy expediting and gratuities. The services of legendary booking agent Jack Atcheson Jr. are included to help with planning and travel.
